BLANCO IS ISOLATED

The Cable Connecting Havana with Spain Severed by Americans.

DETAILS OF RECENT ENGAGEMENTS ON CUBAN COAST.

New York, May 14—Special—Communication by cable with the Barbadoes, Granada, Trinidad and British Guiana has been interrupted Havoc at Cienfuegos.

Key West, May 14—Special—Off the town of Cienfuegos the cruisers Marblehead, Nashville and Windom fought a desperate battle Wednesday against fearful odds, but they came off victorious, and now the southern Cuban seaport is writhing in ruin, and the dead and dying fill the streets. The cruisers' mission off Cienfuegos was to cut the cable. They drew in close to shore and were fired upon. The Windom replied, and after five minutes' firing the fortifications were a mass of ruins. In the meantime the Nashville and Marblehead had launched boats and the cable was cut. Before the small boats were able to return to the cruisers however, the masked batteries opened fire. The boats were saddled and the occupants were soon struggling in the water. Other boats were sent to the rescue, and then a terrible vengeance was meted out to the Spaniards. The Nashville and Marblehead belched forth a rain of shot and shell. Every shot went true, and earthworks, guns and Spaniards were seen flying convulsively in the air as each shell burst. After the battle was over it was found that two Americans, names unknown, were killed, and Capt. Maynard and Lieut. Winslow, of the Nashville, slightly wounded. Six gunners were also hurt, but not fatally. The Spanish loss is four hundred. The dead and wounded Americans were brought into this port this morning.

Private Egan, of the Nashville, was one of the slain. Of the wounded men, a gunner named Hendrickson is shot through the liver and cannot live. Gunner Boltz has three bullets through his chest and one through his head. He will also die. The Nashville and Marblehead will take Cienfuegos if they have not already done so.

The Bombardment of Cardenas.

Key West, May 14—Special—Reports received here tell of the havoc wrought during the bombardment of Cardenas. After the Winslow was disabled the Wilmington shelled the masked batteries, and when these were silenced gave its attention to other forts and then the town. When all were silenced small boats were landed. In the masked batteries one hundred and thirteen dead were found. Cardenas is on fire, and it is thought at least three hundred Spaniards perished. Not a shot hit the Wilmington.

Bombardment Confirmed.

Madrid, May 14—Special—A cablegram from Blanco confirms the reported bombardment of Bahia Honda.

WAS NOT IN THAT CLASS

A Beloit Company of Braves Which a Soldier Didn't Belong To.

Howard Elkins, a member of the Beloit militia, was in the city today on his way back to Camp Harvey, Milwaukee. He was dressed in full military uniform, and on his coat was pinned a badge that attracted no end of attention, and which read as follows: "I am not one of the sixty-five."

Of course Mr. Elkins had to explain the meaning of this badge to some two dozen waiting passengers who gathered about him, and his tale of woe runs something like this:

"Several days ago sixty-five young business and society boys in the Blue City formed an exclusive company of their own in case their country needed their services. They pooled around town as 'braves,' told war stories that would put to shame the Custer battle, and otherwise made themselves quite conspicuous along our lines. Captain Rogers, of the Beloit company, was obliged to leave Camp Harvey and pay a flying visit to Beloit recently for the purpose of getting twenty more men, but after trying his hardest to get them he was obliged to return with thirteen. Of the thirteen recruits all were men in Beloit, and not one of the sixty-five 'braves' volunteered their service. It is now said that the new company was formed for the purpose of defending Beloit in case the Spaniards manage to make their way into Wisconsin territory.

SENT IN A FALSE ALARM

There Was No Fire When the Bells Rang at One O'clock

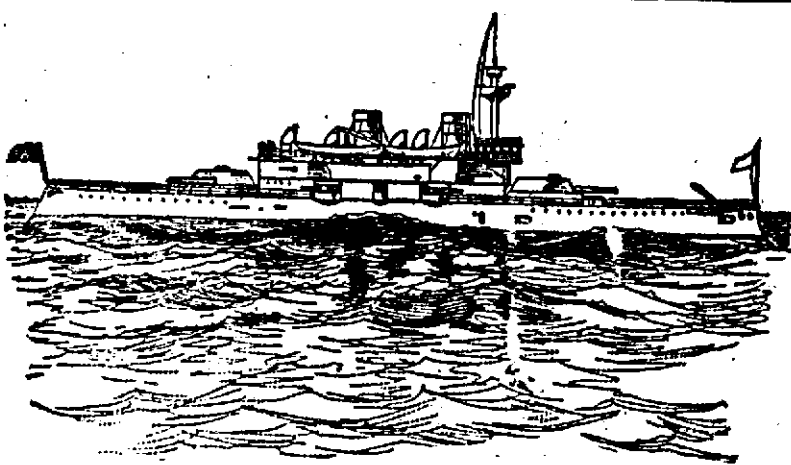

Just for the fun of the thing some unknown person amused himself at 1 o'clock this afternoon by sending in a fire alarm from box 23 at the corner of Carroll street and Fourth avenue. When the department arrived on the scene no one was to be found who sent in an alarm, nor were there any signs of a fire or any other reason for the calling out of the department.

Chief Spencer will make an endeavor to locate the guilty parties, and if apprehended they will be dealt with according to law. It is thought to be the work of boys.

Y. M. C. A. TO HAVE AN ORGAN

It Will Not Give Forth Music, But News and Counsel

It is not at all improbable that in the near future the local Y. M. C. A. may have a weekly paper in the field. It will be first and last in the interest of the association. Secretary J. C. Kline in speaking of the proposed project, says that the idea is not a new one in Y. M. C. A. circles and that in the greater portion of the large cities these weekly issues are to be found in a flourishing condition.

THE BATTLESHIP OREGON.

The Oregon is 348 feet long and has a displacement of 10,388 tons. She cost $3,180,000 and steams 15 knots an hour. Her crew consists of 434 men. Four 18 inch, eight 8 inch, four 6 inch and 80 smaller guns compose her armament.

BRIEFS FROM BELOIT

Death Of Mrs. Fred Gaytes From Consumption—Lost One Of His Toes.

Beloit, Wis., May 14—[Special]—Mrs. Fred Gaytes, residing on Bridge street, died yesterday afternoon of consumption after a long illness. She is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Hanley, of this city. Mrs. Gaytes leaves a husband and three children, and a mother and three sisters to mourn her loss.

James Munshau had his foot crushed at the Northwestern depot yesterday afternoon, causing the amputation of one of his toes.

BATTLESHIP IN MINATURE.

Clever Piece of Work Displayed in a Local Barber Shop.

A home made battleship is now on exhibition at the Ohlweiller barber shop on Academy street. The work is from the hammer and knife of John Ohlweiller, a local cigarmaker. The ship is a good representative of a modern man-of-war. It is five feet high and five feet three inches long, and required six weeks' work for its construction. Guns are mounted on all sides behind riveted strips of brass, and the entire work is a credit to its builder. The model was patterned after a newspaper picture of the battleship Oregon.

PRaise FOR PROF. SPENCER.

Well Known Violinist Will Be in Janesville Monday Evening, May 23.

Besides Professor Frederick Spencer the Caledonian society concert Monday, May 23, will be participated in by Mrs. J. B. Day, Mrs. J. P. Sweeney, Mrs. Christian Hawley, G. G. Parle, Gavin Spence and others. Professor Spencer comes to Janesville with the warmest commendation of critics in other cities. The La Crosse Press says of him: "As an artist Mr. Spencer may well consider himself in the first rank for his tones are sweet and pure, his fingering phenomenal and his bowing a revelation."

The La Crosse Chronicle says: "His delivery and touch was that of the master which he is."

INCREASING ITS MEMBERSHIP.

Workmen Are Adding Largely to Their Number of Late.

Five members were initiated into the ranks of the A. O. U. W. lodge in this city last evening, it being the first meeting of the local order to be held in the new Odd Fellows hall on the east side.

E. Ray Lloyd, of this city, is in receipt of a letter from Deputy Lloyd, of the state order, who recently spent a month in this city, telling of recent initiation exercises held at West Superior, when in one night fifty-four members were taken in with forty more waiting to be admitted. Deputy Lloyd says that West Superior is the banner A. O. U. W. town in the state.

MAY COME TO JANESVILLE.

Fort Atkinson Wagon Factory Wants a Location Here.

The Fort Atkinson wagon manufacturing plant of Weyher & Son are desirous of making a change in the location of their factory, and if the business men of Janesville make them a suitable offer in the way of a factory site, they will move here.

Capt. W. T. Van Kirk is in receipt of a letter from the firm stating the above facts. The enterprise is not a large one, and at present they are running a full force or less than twenty hands.

GOOD TEMPLARS ARE ACTIVE

Installation of Officers and Initiation of Members Last Evening.

Members of the local I. O. G. T. lodge held a rousing meeting at their South Main street hall last evening which proved to be one of the most interesting of the year. Visiting delegates were present from the Milton and Delavan lodges and nothing was left undone to make the evening one long to be remembered. Nine new members were initiated which fully demonstrated the fact that the lodge is growing at a rapid rate. The chief templar then appointed the standing committees for the term, after which Sister Stratton was appointed press reporter for the Wisconsin Good Templars, while Edison Baker was re-elected local press reporter. Next Wednesday a dime social will be held at their hall and the public is invited.

THEY HAVE NOT DECIDED.

Some Delay in Securing a Site for the Proposed Cereal Mill

Whether or not Miller Bros., of Akron, Ohio, will operate a cereal mill in this city is a matter that is as yet unsettled. The greater portion of the day they spent in looking over the local field with a view of securing a suitable building supplied with water power. It is thought that in case they locate here they will have to put in a steam plant, for the reason that water can not be depended on for power the year around.

It is not yet known just what steps local business men will take towards securing the factory.

SLEEPERS FOR THE SOLDIERS

The Boys in Blue Will Travel in First Class Style

Four special trains composed entirely of palace sleeping cars passed through the city this morning on their way to St. Paul via the Chicago & Northwestern road. From St. Paul, it is said, that the cars will be used in transporting the troops to whatever points they are called to.

The overland troops from the far west will take several days and nights in case the men are ordered to Florida, and for this reason sleeping cars were provided by the government.

BIG BATTLE IMPENDING

Sampson Is in Pursuit of the Spanish Armada.

BELIEF THAT THE FORCES WILL MEET TOMORROW.

Washington, May 14—Special—Naval officials here express the opinion that the decisive naval battle of the war with Spain will be fought within a few hours if it has not already begun. Admiral Sampson has intelligence of the whereabouts of the Spanish armada, and he left San Juan to give it battle. It is expected that the flying squadron, which left Hampton Roads yesterday morning, will have joined Sampson's fleet before daybreak tomorrow. The combined squadron will be vastly superior to the Spanish force both in the number and quality of the ships and in the matter of armament. The fight, it is expected, will take place in the channel between Hayti and the eastern projection of Cuba, whither the Spanish fleet headed after leaving Martinique.

Although little information regarding the movements of Spain's flotilla has reached here it is believed that Sampson has kept himself advised of its whereabouts by means of his scout boats. He has two of them—the swiftest in the navy. One of them, the Hartford, was in the port of Martinique when the Spaniards sailed, and at once communicated with Sampson. The Yale is also said to be watching the enemy, and as she can outspeed anything afloat no fears of a surprise are entertained.

A Great Feat.

Key West, May 14—Special—The cutting of the cable at Cienfuegos is considered by naval experts as the greatest accomplishment of the war outside of Manila. Blanco is virtually shut out from the world.

Spanish Fleet Sighted.

Washington, May 14—Special—The state department has an official report from Curacao which says the Spanish fleet has been sighted there. If this news is accurate it indicates that the Spaniards are sneaking up to the west coast of Cuba to avoid Sampson's squadron.

WONDERFUL SKIN GRAFTING

Fireman Coan Is Receiving a New Skin From Eggs

J. O. Coan, the fireman who was injured in the Roscoe wreck on the Chicago & Northwestern road, and who is still at the Palmer Memorial hospital in this city, is now undergoing a skin grafting process that is being carried on by the use of eggs.

On different portions of his burned body is now being grafted the white layer of skin that is found on the inside of all eggs, and from indications the process promises to be a success. The report in Rockford and Belvidere papers that twenty engineers would come here today from Baraboo and bare their arms to the knife of the surgeon for the purpose of giving skin, proved to be untrue. Their services will not be needed unless the egg grafting process fails to work.

Each member was supplied with a well filled parcel of lunch, which they enjoyed in the shape of a picnic dinner. Members of this club are all boys who have banded together for pleasure and profit, meetings being held at the homes of their respective parents.

Those who made the trip to the Line City today were: Ned Helmer, Charles Dearborn, Starr Atwood, Kramer Doty, Harold Hall, Victor Whiton, Lawrence Doty, Harold Dearborn, Stowe, Lovejoy, Gardner, Kavelge.

SUFFERING FROM ILLNESS

Mrs. J. E. Gleason Very Low From An Affection of the Stomach

Mrs. J. E. Gleason, wife of Chairman Gleason of the town board of La Prairie, is lying dangerously ill at her home in La Prairie and her recovery is a matter of much doubt. For the past three months she has been a patient sufferer with stomach trouble and for a time it was thought she was improving and would soon be able to be out. During the past few days her condition has taken a sudden change for the worse.

Mrs. Gleason is fifty-six years of age, and is a woman who has a host of friends throughout the county.

In front of the postoffice at 10 o'clock this morning Turnkey Samuel Brown sold at sheriff's sale nine acres of land in township 2 of range 12, to satisfy a claim in the case of John Long vs. F. M. Ribbard, Patrick Karney, Margaret Karney, H. H. Bliss and S. S. Chasco.

Bidders were not plentiful, only a few parties interested being present to take an active part in the proceedings. Mr. Long, the plaintiff in the action, bid in the property for $700.

DUNBAR IS HEARD FROM

On Board the San Francisco Patrolling the Massachusetts Coast

Chaplain G. W. Dunbar, of this city, is in receipt of a letter from his son, A. W. Dunbar, who is now past assistant surgeon in the United States navy, notifying him that all is well. On board the battleship, San Francisco Chaplain Dunbar's son is now stationed where he holds a most responsible position. The San Francisco is now the flagship of the North Atlantic patrol, whose duty of late has been to cruise in the vicinity of the Massachusetts coast in the hopes of overhauling some Spanish man-of-war.

THE U. S. ARMORED CRUISER "NEW YORK" FIRING ON A COAST-GUARD OF SPANISH CAVALRY OFF CABANAS.

FROM A DRAWING BY CHARLTON T. CHAPMAN IN HARPER'S WEEKLY. Reproduced from Harper's Weekly. By Permission. Copyright, 1898, by Harper & Brothers.

Mr. Carlton T. Chapman, special correspondent of Harper's Weekly with Admiral Sampson's fleet, thus describes an incident of the Cuban blockade of which we publish an illustration today.

On Friday afternoon the New York, accompanied by the torpedo boats Porter and Ericson, left the Havana station and went off Mariel, twenty four miles west of Havana, where the Castine is keeping guard over two small Spanish gun boats. There was an intention of bombarding the place, but we were disappointed as nothing occurred and the New York and torpedo boats went on as far as Cabanas, off which place we arrived about six o'clock. The New York, a little in advance, with the two torpedo boats lying near, was fired on by a coast-guard of cavalry. The shots did no harm, however, and were answered in a minute by a puff of pink smoke from the New York's port battery, followed in quick succession by twelve shots from her 4-inch guns, when the cavalry disappeared, but came back again as the New York moved off, when she again opened fire with an 8-inch gun, the last two shots being aimed by Captain Chadwick himself, and all struck fairly in the midst of troopers, the last shot sending a group of them flying in seventeen directions."

ALL THE NEWS OF THE BADGER STATE

CORNELL SENT TO WAUPUN FOR LIFE FOR MURDER.

He Killed His Two Children in November Last—Wood Workers in Oshkosh Threaten a Strike—A Heavy Verdict Against a Railroad—Wisconsin's Fighting Parson.

Waushara, Wis., May 14.—Ernest Cornell, who killed his two children at Oconomowoc, Nov. 19 last was found guilty yesterday. Since the jury decided with so much promptness that Cornell was not insane when the bullet was fired, it was almost a foregone conclusion that he would be sent to Waupun. The case has not awakened enough interest to draw a crowd to the courthouse at any session, and much complaint is heard that a trial in the case was necessary, after Cornell had made a confession prior to the trial. The costs in the case are several thousand dollars.

A FIGHTING PARSON.

Former Wisconsin Preacher Now a California Colonel.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., May 14.—J. N. Phillips, who has been appointed colonel of the Home Guard at Los Angeles, Cal., was formerly pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, was one of the brainiest members of the Wisconsin M. E. conference. He was the first minister to introduce an orchestra in church service, and always spoke to a large crowd. He withdrew from his conference while here, and started a daily paper which by its vigorous policy got him into a great deal of trouble. He was shot at twice by persons who had been enraged by his attacks. He went to Washington from here, and finally drifted to California, where he is reported to have made a great deal of money.

RECOVERS A HEAVY VERDICT.

Woman Injured in the Christian Endeavor Wreck Gets $12,000.

Appleton, Wis., May 14.—A verdict for $12,000 was given by the jury to Mrs. Jane Taylor, who sued the Northwestern railway company for $25,000 damages, for injuries received in the Christian Endeavor wreck near Chicago this summer. The suit of Miss Sarah M. Russell, for a like amount, will be taken up today. The two cases were of the four originally brought against the company. Two were settled out of court.

Janeau, Wis., May 14.—The case of W. A. Kuechenberg against the St. Paul railway company came to an end Thursday at Portage, where it was taken from this county on a change of venue. Mr. Kuechenberg sued for $10,000 damages. While he was alighting from a passenger train at Knowles, March 15, 1897, his leg was broken and he has been crippled since. The jury at the December term disagreed, and Thursday decided in favor of the railroad company.

THREATEN A STRIKE.

Woodworkers of Oshkosh Demand An Increase in Wages.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 14.—The Amalgamated Woodworkers' union, several thousand strong, yesterday served a manifesto upon the local manufacturers demanding an increase in wages of 25 per cent., with a minimum of $1.50 a day; the abolition of female labor in the factories, and a weekly pay day. An answer must be forthcoming by Saturday night. A refusal is the only thing to be expected, and a strike seems difficult to avoid.

There are seven large saw and door concerns in the city—the Paine Lumber company, the Morgan company, the Gould Manufacturing company, the Williamson & Libbey company, the Foster-Hafner company, Radford Bros. Lumber company, R. McMillan & Co.

MATCH WORKS CLOSED.

Oshkosh Factory Closes Much Earlier Than Is Customary.

Oshkosh, Wis., May 14.—The plant of the Diamond Match company has been closed, throwing about 300 men and women out of employment. It will probably be several weeks before it is started. The closing of the Diamond Match plant at this time of year is rather unusual, as the works are usually in operation during the summer. The explanation is that in preparation for a shut down of a couple of months while the proposed additions to the works were being made, business was rushed and a large amount of manufactured stock is now on hand.

NOVEL FEATURES OF ALASKA TRAVEL

LETTER FROM A GOLDSEEKER EN ROUTE FOR MINES.

All Classes Are Found in the Throngs Rushing to the Northwest—Men and Women All Dress Alike—News from Home Anxiously Looked For.

Lute Brown, for years a resident of Rock county, is one of the gold diggers. He reached Alaska March 15, 1898. He went with a party from Minnesota, but Rock county has always been his home and many friends will be glad to hear from him. Mr. Brown is a brother-in-law of Joshua Orall, of this city and Mr. Orall's family have received this letter from Sheep Camp, Alaska.

We are now living in camp and such a lot of camps you never saw or never will. The tents are close together and reach for miles. We see some of all ages hauling sleds loaded with goods. The style has changed since we left Dyea and now women who are going over the pass dress just like men and the only way you can tell them from the men is by their faces. Some of the boys have gone up the summit today just to look the route over. I would like to have gone too, but I caught a hard cold on shipboard and coughed nights.

It is very warm today and the snow is getting soft. The snow is about four feet deep here at present. Talk about dogs. I believe there are ten thousand in this camp, and every one howls all night long. All kinds of gambling is carried on here, and many a young man spends all his money and then has to sell his outfit and return home. There are hundreds going back every day. I haven't seen one woman going back yet. I guess they don't get homesick so easily as the men do.

There are many gray haired men in camp. We have a man with us who is sixty-eight years old. He is a nice old gentleman, and has been with us ever since we left St. Paul. I saw a man today who knew Frank Sutter back in Rhineland, Wisconsin. There are many bride here. There are two newly married couples in the tent next to us; and we see the brides working around in their shirt sleeves with their suspenders crossed on their backs, and it looks odd enough. There is no postoffice here, and I will have to pay five cents to have this letter carried to Dyea. There are many Indians here. They pack and haul goods for a living. One of them carried 280 pounds up to the summit of a lead on a bet, but I think fifty pounds will be the extent of my first load.

I would like to get a letter from home before I go over the pass, but there won't be any chance now. If one came the chances are that I would have to stand at the office all day to wait my turn to inquire. Some women get two and three dollars for asking for a man's mail at Dyea. We did not get here any too soon as the water is running this side. Give my respects to all our friends. I will try and send a letter back when we get over the pass if I get the chance.

VETERANS RALLY IN CLINTON

County Association Will Hold Its Annual Gathering in Clinton in August.

The executive committee of the Rock County Ex-Soldiers' and Sailors' Association met this afternoon at the court house. President W. J. McIntyre, Vice President George W. Dible and Treasurer W. G. Palmer were all present. Secretary W. A. Mayhew was unavoidably absent but sent J. C. Butler in his place.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Clinton in August, and if possible Walworth county veterans will be induced to unite. Addresses are expected from Governor Scofield, Senator Spooner and Congressman Cooper. A local committee consisting of W. A. Mayhew, J. H. Smith, J. O. Barker, F. A. Ames, and H. A. Anderson have been put in charge of the arrangements.

THEY PASSED EXAMINATION

Recruits For Co. A Were In Perfect Physical Condition.

George Kueck and Frank Reynolds, who left the first part of the week to join Co. A at Camp Harvey, have both passed the strict physical examination at the grounds with high honors. The examining surgeons stated that both boys were as perfect in physical construction as any two members of Co. A.

Of the three members who left here yesterday in charge of Lieut. Baldwin there is still some doubt as to their passing, but this doubt is so slim that anxious parents need not figure on their return for many days to come.

State News in Brief.

The Fond du Lac district convention of the Epworth league began in the First Methodist church at Sheboygan Friday. Delegates are present from Oshkosh, Manitowish, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac counties. The Cuban flag is the badge worn by the league. The sessions will continue until tomorrow evening, but delegates will remain until Monday.

The park laborers of Milwaukee want an increase in wages, and if the commissioners refuse their demands it is possible that a strike may follow. There are over 100 park laborers in the city and for the last four or five years they have been receiving $1.25 each for their services. They now work eight hours a day.

Prof. Riordan, of the Sheboygan High school, announces that the enrollment of the public schools for the past four weeks has been 4,300, an increase of 517 for the same period a year ago. A substantial reason for the increase is the prevailing good times in the city, which has added many new families this spring.

Dr. A. F. Jones, a Madison boy, now a physician at Omaha, Neb., has been appointed chief surgeon of the Union Pacific road.

THEY LIKE THE NEW LIGHT.

Hotel Men Enthusiastic Over Acetylene Gas—Its Use in Stores.

Hotel men and merchants are delighted with acetylene gas. The plants in use at the Hotel Myers and at the Peoples' drug store are giving perfect satisfaction and reduce lighting expenses fully one-half. Mr. Caldwell has just taken a contract to put the light into the Hotel Nelson in Rockford.

The Hotel Myers is now illuminated throughout with this new and popular light. The illumination is far ahead of any that can possibly be produced by gas or an incandescent electric light. The new gas is clean, free from smoke of any kind, gives a clearer, whiter light than any other illuminant, is safe, and above all is cheap. All who have inspected the new light at the Hotel Myers are charmed with it and other business places will soon put in a plant. It is the coming light. It takes the place of the gas stove in the Hotel Myers for making coffee and in every way it is the best light now in use.

L. F. Farley conducts a large mercantile business at Liberty Hill, Ga. He says: "One application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieved me of a severe pain in my back. I think it O. K." For lumbago, rheumatism, neuralgia, swellings, sprains, bruises, burns and scalds no other liniment can approach Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is intended especially for these diseases and is famous for its cures. For sale by People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

On account of the above meeting, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. will sell round trip excursion tickets at half fare plus $2 to Denver, Colo., on June 2, 4 and 5, good for return, not later than July 5, 1898. Short line and excellent service.

Via the Northwestern line, will be sold at reduced rates, May 20 and 27, and for trains arriving at Winona by noon May 23, limited to May 30, on account of annual meeting Grand Council of United Commercial Travelers. Apply to agents Chicago & Northwestern Ry.

Mr. John Peterson, of Patonville, La., was very agreeably surprised not long ago. For eighteen months he had been troubled with dysentery and had tried three of the best doctors of New Orleans, besides half a dozen or more patent medicines, but received very little relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, having been recommended to him, he gave it a trial and to his great surprise, three doses of that remedy effected a permanent cure. Mr. McNamara, a well known merchant of the same place, is well acquainted with Mr. Peterson and attests to the truth of the statement. This remedy is for sale by People's Drug Company, corner of Main and Market streets.

Excursion Tickets to the Grand May Festival at Madison.
Via the North-Western Line, will be sold at reduced rates May 10 and 17, limited to May 18. Apply to agents Chicago & North-Western Ry.

OUR HEROIC DEAD.

Six brave American sailors gave up their lives for their country yesterday—five aboard the torpedo boat Winslow, and one on the New York. These were the first fatalities of the war, and the deaths bring home to the people, with successful vividness, the fact that war is war.

To the memories of the departed heroes, all honor will be paid. Their names will go down in history.

But few such victories as that of Admiral Dewey, are reported in naval annals, and they cannot be expected. Many American soldiers and sailors must lose their lives ere peace is restored. We cannot escape unscathed, and the lives of the gallant men who are defending the flag should be preserved in as great a degree as possible. President McKinley said "there should be no Bull Run in this war," and he spoke wisely. There should be no foolhardy expeditions, and officers who recklessly order their men into danger when nothing can be gained by such attacks, should be relieved from duty. The American soldiers and sailors will willingly rush into the thick of the fray—they are ready to die for their country—but coolheaded officers can, and should, hold them in check until the time comes to strike. Then let the order be given—cost what it may—and the patriotic "boys in blue" will always be found ready and anxious to respond.

The Cuban insurgents have been able to hold out with scant military supplies, because they husbanded their ammunition until they could make each bullet count. Let the American commanders learn a lesson from Gomez. We have all the ammunition we want, but the lives of the soldiers are priceless. Therefore, sacrifice them only when something can be gained by the payment of the penalty of their heroism.

TERRIBLE ENGINE OF WAR.

The Vesuvius, it seems, has not been blown up as the dispatches stated. Naval authorities, as a rule, however, are confident that the dynamite cruiser will sooner or later be destroyed by the death-dealing cargo that she carries, and, as her commander said, when she does blow up, no court of inquiry will be necessary. The boat can undoubtedly do fearful execution with her dynamite guns, but a collision with anything heavier than a floating cornucopia is likely to send both boat and crew skyward. Dynamite explodes by concussion, and the Vesuvius carries enough of that explosive in her magazines to blow up a whole fleet of vessels. A ship of this character has never been used in warfare, and naval authorities are of the opinion that such boats will either do fearful work in a few moments, or be blown to atoms by an internal explosion the instant a heavy shot strikes the hull. If such a vessel can escape the flying shot, it can undoubtedly wipe out a whole fleet, but the chances are that vessels of that character will be blown to bits before their compressed air guns can toss half a ton of dynamite aboard the ship of the enemy. The Vesuvius is an experiment, and it is to be hoped that her gallant crew will not meet the untimely end that naval officers seem to fear.

"GRAPEVINE" WAR NEWS.

If the "grapevine" special of the Chicago Chronicle regarding the bom-war is not what it ought to be. The account in question relates that "Each gunner seemed to pick out his own particular mark, and let fly at it regardless of what anybody else was doing."

It has heretofore been the custom of a commander of a man-of-war to pick out the target at which the gunners shall fire, the gunners being mere automata. But things may have changed since "the good old days" when sailors and gunners were expected to obey orders or dance from the yard-arm.

Wisconsin soldiers congratulate Captain Phillip Beade, of the Third regular infantry, on his appointment as an inspector general with the rank of major. Captain Beade is the life president of the state National Guard organization and is very popular with the Badger troops.

The Charleston which will be sent to Manila is a protected cruiser with 8 inches of armor 8-inch guns and a speed of 18 knots. She carries a crew of 300 men. Lieutenant Frank Bosworth is likely to be one of the officers of this boat.

"Spain will continue the war" says a newspaper heading. Just what war Spain will continue, is not stated, but in the meantime your Uncle Samuel's ships are doing business at the old stand.

The Green Bay Advocate, a democratic paper, suggests "Dewey and Lee" as a democratic presidential ticket. As Admiral Dewey is a republican, however, the Advocate will probably be compelled to "hedge."

The London papers say Captain Sampson is a "second Dewey." Now that Commodore Schley's fleet has sailed, his name will probably be added to the list of Deweys in a few days.

Spanish Loss in Havana.

Madrid, May 14.—A dispatch from Porto Rico to La Correspondencia de Espana says the loss during the bombardment was one officer and three soldiers killed, thirteen soldiers wounded, one civilian killed and thirty wounded.

Greece to Remain Neutral.

Athens, May 14.—A proclamation of neutrality in the war between the United States and Spain was gazetted Friday.

Goddard Wins from Maher.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 14.—Peter Maher's aspirations for the championship were completely smothered at the Arena Friday night. Joe Goddard, the Barrier champion of Australia, knocked the Irish champion clean out with a blow on the jaw, after one minute and forty-two seconds of fighting in the first round.

Faithful Trial Brings Reward

Hood's Sarsaparilla Triumphant in a Severe Test
—A Distressing Sore Completely Cured

The testimonials in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla are worth reading because they tell things worth telling. Just spare a few moments to read this statement below:

No man is more favorably known in and about Epping, N. H., than Mr. Joseph Stokes, the husband of the lady referred to. His word is as good as a U. S. bond, and every statement from him or his family may be most implicitly relied upon. Read this:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Gentlemen:—For fully twenty years my mother has been seriously troubled by a sore on her nose. For some time we thought it of a cancerous nature, and it was removed three times. A physician in Boston said the sore was not a cancer, but sore was diminishing in size and was becoming less troublesome. This encouraged her to continue the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. She took 11 bottles, and now

Her Face is Well.

The sore has entirely disappeared, leaving not a scar, but only a slight mark, which we think may in time totally disappear. It is such a comfort to her and such a joy to the rest of the family that we feel indebted more than we can express, to Hood's Sarsaparilla, that she has been cured after twenty years of suffering."

From Mr. Stokes. "I am glad to say that the cure of my wife is exactly as stated in my daughter's letter above. JOSEPH STOKES.

Col. Bennett,

Who writes the following, is a leading contractor and builder, has been on the Governor's staff, and held other official positions of confidence and trust:

"I know the parties referred to in the letters above, and endorse them as thoroughly reliable. I have known about this case for some time, and am glad this testimonial has been sent to C. I. Hood & Co." J. W. BENNETT, Lowell, Mass.

FIGURED BLUE TAFFETA GOWN FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

The new crisp taffetas, which appear in all the latest and most beautiful colorings, are cool looking, and lend themselves charmingly to the fashionable mode of trimming with linen, cambric, or lawn.

A gown in falene blue covered with turquoise and white scrolls is combined with white linen embroidery and insertions. The skirt, fashionably cut, with a deep circular dounce, forms an apron, sharply pointed in front, sloping higher at the sides, and finishing at the back each side of the tiny gathers at the middle. Its width is four yards. The décolleté blouse displays a plain collar and plastron of the embroidered linen, which is encircled by a quaint little collarette, pointed in the front and back, and with scallops over the sleeves. Linen insertion borders it, and it is fastened at the side, like the corsage, by crystal buttons. The back of the bodice fits snugly to the waist line, where the slight fulcrum, back and front, is confined by a white kid belt. The small sleeves are in the ordinary gigot fashion, with a pointed trimming of insertion. The proper cut of the gown can be easily obtained from the cut paper patterns, published by Harper's Bazar where it appears.

With this gown is worn a French hat of coarsely plaited straw. A gauze scarf interlaced with satin baby-ribbons is arranged over the crown. The decoration of the front is a cluster of jetted wings and quills, while under the brim at the back on each side is a mass of deep red and pale-tinted roses resting on the hair.

Quantity of material for gown—taffeta, 16 yards; silk lining, 16 yards; insertion, 5 yards; embroidery, 1 yard.

LEARNED ABOUT THE STREETS

Janesville Officials Profit From a Visit to Madison.

Members of the local highway and bridge committee who paid a visit to Madison yesterday for the purpose of inspecting the method of building streets, expressed themselves today as being highly pleased at the result of their visit.

City officials at Madison escorted them about town, and nothing was left undone that would add to their comfort.

The work that has been carried on at Madison in street construction the officials found to be entirely different from that which has been followed here in Janesville. The Capital City officials have gone at the work in the right way, and although it is expensive at the start, it is much the cheaper in the end. The local delegation closely inspected the material used, and it is now to be hoped that Janesville will be benefited by the construction of better highways.

QUITE A THRIVING INDUSTRY.

The Making of Tobacco Boxes is an Important Matter for Janesville.

In the neighborhood of 15,000 leaf tobacco cases were manufactured in this city this spring and sold by the local lumbermen to the leaf dealers and growers of Rock county.

Not in years has the tobacco case business been so brisk in this city as it has been this year. The prices obtained were not as high as were secured in several of the adjoining towns, and this was owing to the fact that the local dealers at one time got to cutting prices among themselves. The prices per case ranged according to the grade of material, and were placed at fifty, sixty and seventy cents.

The average man, if he was a hustler at the business, could make an average of sixty cases in a day.

Troops Land in Cuba.

Cabanas, Cuba, May 12, via Key West, May 14.—About forty soldiers of the First United States Infantry Friday afternoon effected a temporary landing near Cabanas and engaged in a hot skirmish with Spanish infantry and cavalry. It was the first landing of American troops on Cuban soil, and marks a new period in the present war with Spain. Our troops suffered no casualties, but ten Spaniards are reported killed and wounded.

ENEMY'S SHIPS ARE AT HAND.

Spain's Flying Squadron Has Left Martinique.

SAILS DIRECTLY FOR CUBA.

Years of an Attack at Some Point on the North Atlantic Coast, Possibly at Boston--Precautions Taken at Fort Warren.

Washington, May 14.—The ten days' suspense regarding the movements of Spain's flying squadron was finally relieved Friday morning by a cablegram from Capt. Cotton of the Harvard at St. Pierre, Martinique, announcing that those vessels were proceeding westward from there Wednesday afternoon, "hull down" on the horizon. About the same time the first official dispatch was received from Admiral Sampson announcing briefly, his bombardment of the batteries at San Juan de Porto Rico.

The two announcements were instantly productive of greater activity than has been displayed at any time in army and navy service since war began. Commodore Schley was instantly notified to prepare to leave Hampton Roads. Capt. Cotton was directed to follow the Spaniards with the Harvard as soon as his detention at St. Pierre would permit, and so ascertain and report the rate of progress of the enemy and their probable destination. Capt. Wise, at St. Thomas, was directed to await orders for Admiral Sampson.

Before 9 o'clock Secretary Long was in consultation with the naval war board, and its recommendation that no effort should be spared to destroy the Spaniards at once at any hazard was placed before the president and quickly approved. Then, soon after 10 o'clock, orders were telegraphed to St. Thomas, to be forwarded speedily by the Yale to Admiral Sampson. The splendid scouts, formerly the American transatlantic liners Paris and New York, renamed Yale and Harvard, are relied upon to keep Admiral Sampson fully informed of the enemy's movements. They will be joined in this duty by the St. Paul, commanded by Capt. Sigbee, whose incentive for hunting them down is stronger than that of any other naval officer.

About noon Secretary Long ordered Commodore Schley to leave Hampton Roads and proceed south with all possible dispatch to look for the Spanish cruisers and engage them wherever he found them. Opinion is about equally divided whether the Spanish fleet will advance toward Porto Rico and try a duel with Admiral Sampson or make for San Diego. If they reach the latter port they will be bottled up scarcely before they have had time to coal.

If Sampson or Schley succeeds in meeting the Spaniards at sea a battle royal will result. If the Spanish admiral obtained information at Fort de France in regard to the location of Sampson's fleet he is probably now heading directly to Cuba. He has a decided advantage over the American fleet in such a movement. If the Spanish vessels have continued due west, or even west by northwest, since they were signalled west of Martinique, they are now about 150 miles in a straight line from San Juan. If they are bent on reaching Cuba, either by the channel between Haiti and the island or by the Yucatan channel at the west end of Cuba, it will probably be impossible for Sampson to intercept them. If the American admiral learned promptly enough, however, of the whereabouts of the Spanish fleet he may be able to descend upon it by way of the Mona passage between Porto Rico and Haiti, though this is improbable. It will be a hard race also between the flying squadron and the Spanish warships if the former undertakes to reach Cuba in advance of the enemy's arrival.

The naval war board is confident that the Spanish armored squadron will reach Santiago de Cuba Saturday night and every effort is being made to assemble a strong American naval force in that vicinity by Sunday. By that time Commodore Schley, now bound due south on the Panama mail route, should reach Cape May in the Windward passage. The Spaniards are believed to need coal very badly and since the bombardment of San Juan de Porto Rico, their shortest and safest run for fuel, the first essential of naval warfare, is Santiago, 1,000 miles away. Commodore Schley's squadron started at least twenty hours later and has barely more than 900 miles to run.

Boston Expresses an Attack. Boston, Mass., May 14.—Orders were received at Fort Warren Friday from the war department to remove all women and children from the fort at once to a place of safety in case of bombardment.

Officials of high rank at the Charleston navy yard place considerable credence in the rumor that a part at least of the enemy's fleet is not far distant from this coast. Their suspicions were strengthened by the fact that the United States cruiser Columbia and the ram Katahdin hurriedly left this port under sealed orders, and that the cruiser San Francisco will leave at once. The auxiliary cruiser Yankee joined the Columbia off Cape Cod and went to sea.

Wheeler to Lead Invasion. Tampa, Fla., May 14.—Gen. Joseph E. Wheeler, the old confederate cavalry leader recently commissioned major general of volunteers, will command the United States cavalry in the Cuban army of invasion.

ABOUT 3,500 STRONG, BRAVE MEN.

Little Use for Soldiers Since 1855—A La Crosse Guardsman Who Has Not Missed a Drill in Ten Years—The Tomah Methodist Preacher Who Carries a Gun—Feeding the Camp—New Companies Forming for McKinley's Second Call.

FOR the first time since the Milwaukee riots of 1886 there is work on hand for the National guardsmen of Wisconsin. The late Chandler B. Chapman of Madison put in eighteen years of hard work on these home soldiers, and the splendid condition in which President McKinley's call for 125,000 men finds Wisconsin is largely due to Chapman.

Chapman was adjutant general at the seven years under Governor Rusk, and is called the "Father of the National Guard of Wisconsin." He it was who bought 440 acres at Camp Douglas in 1882, confident that the state would take it off his hands. He was derided. People said it was too remote for encampment purposes; that it was a wilderness. But the outcome proved his wisdom. General King said of Chapman that he put the guard on a business basis; that he "weaned the boys from first loves—the tailed coat and plumed shako—and taught them to be men in the regular dress service."

Chapman was adjutant general at the time of the Milwaukee riots. They occurred in May, 1886, at the time of the Haymarket massacre in Chicago, and the object sought was an eight-hour day.

Schilling and Grottkau.

Robert Schilling was active as an organizer of labor, and Paul Grottkau was also prominent. The conditions grew worse until there were 16,000 idle men in the streets. Finally, Governor Rusk moved the troops, and a volley of blank bullets were fired. On the fatal Wednesday, Rusk having given orders to fire to kill. If the mob persisted, there was a volley in earnest, which resulted in eight fatalities. One of the victims was an old man feeding chickens and another was a schoolboy. But it put a stop to rioting. It is to the credit of Schilling that he did what he could to dissuade the men from lawlessness.

In 1881 Governor Rusk called out some troops to quell the bloodless "anarchist war" at Eau Claire. In 1889 Governor Rusk sent some troops to what was supposed to be a riot in West Superior. It was then that Rusk made his famous comment, "These men need bread, not bullets." And it was when commended for his vigorous action at Milwaukee that he said, "I simply seem my duty and do it."

Company G of Madison went to Clinton Junction to protect a prisoner from a mob some years ago, and General Auer was sent to Spooner to investigate troubles, some troops being ordered under arms at their own stations, but they were not needed.

During the Milwaukee fire of 1892 the Fourth battalion rendered service, and Robert Winters was officially praised for rescuing a mother and children from a burning house.

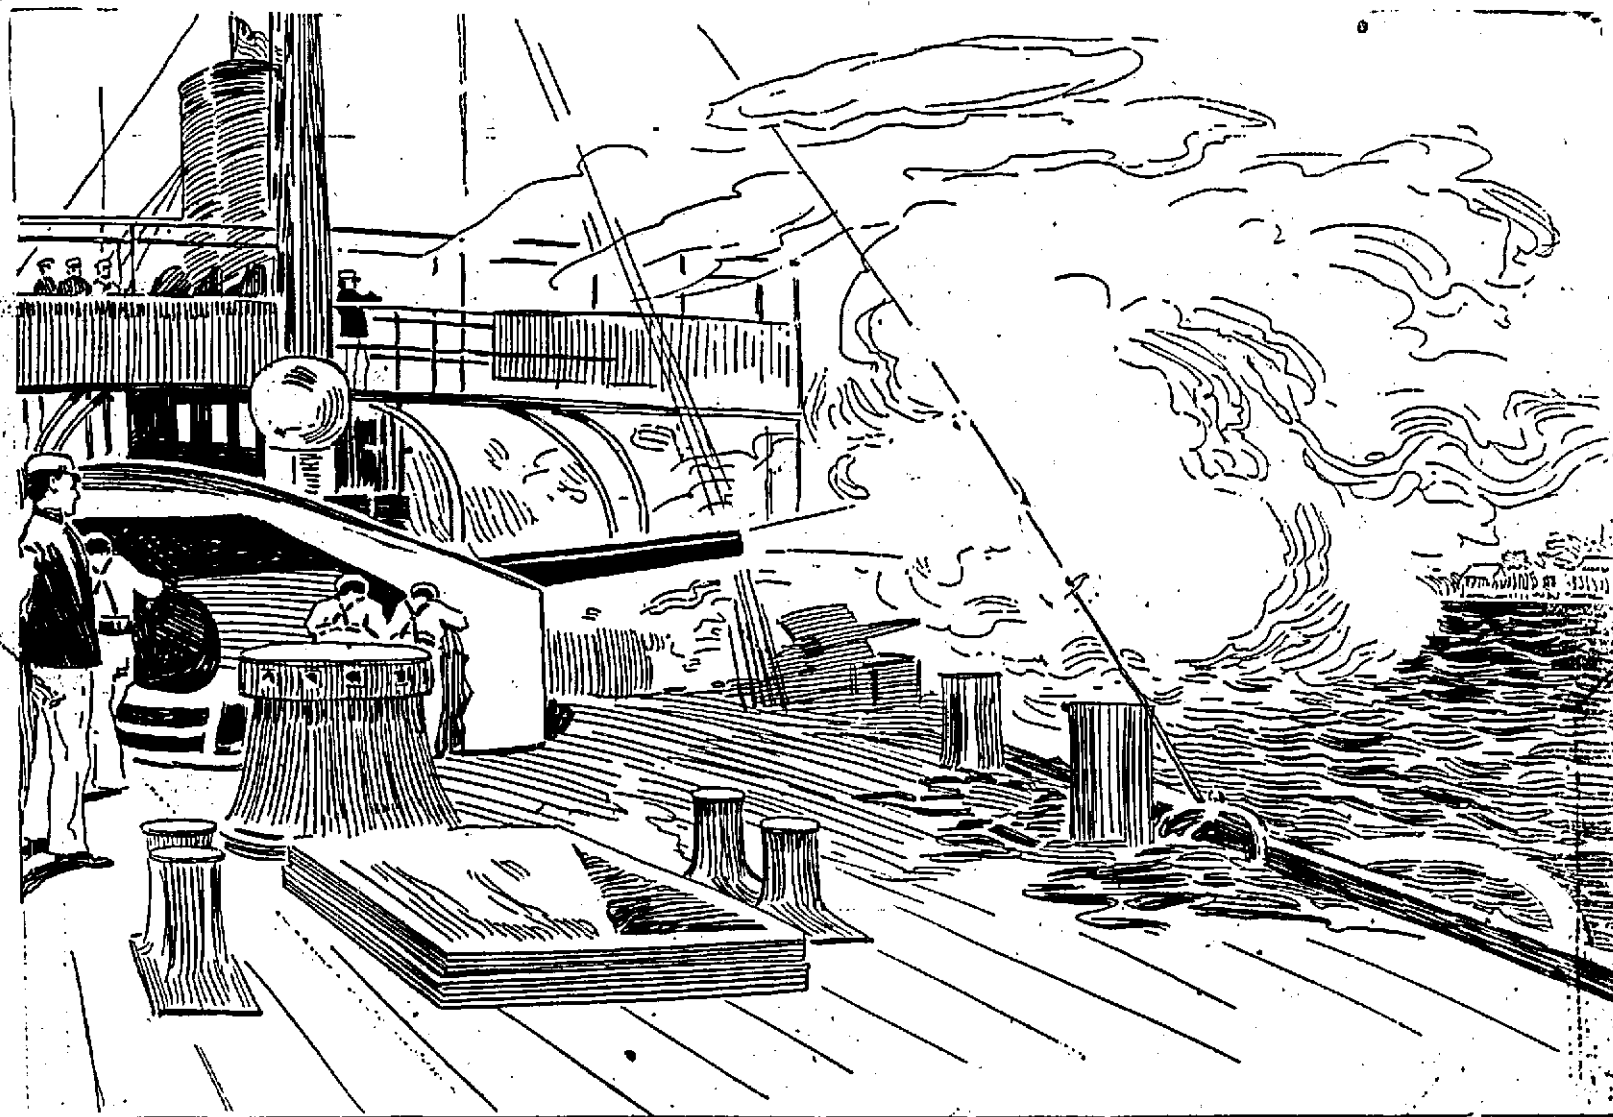

The battery of light artillery has a maximum fixed of eighty-five men and a galling gun. The Troop A has a maximum of seventy-five men, and when mounted present an imposing spectacle.

These soldiers that have been ordered to Milwaukee are of the substantial class that make up our Wisconsin citizenship. Thus, in taking the names of one of the two La Crosse companies as they are listed, the captain is an employee of a brewery company, born in Prussia (and has served ten years without missing a drill). The first lieutenant is a bookkeeper, the second keeps a grocery store. The occupations of a few of the men will indicate all: foundry employee, weaver, machinist, telegrapher, cooper, saloonkeeper, shipping clerk, grocery clerk, laborer, painter, brewer, secretary of a hardware company, bookkeeper, fireman, bricklayer, stone cutter, carpenter, etc. Many of these men were born abroad; many are married; all must be of fair habits. The morale of our Wisconsin soldiery is excellent.

A Governor Who Was Wounded. The rendezvous at Milwaukee is named "Camp Harvey," in honor of a Wisconsin governor, who met his death by drowning. Harvey was Connecticut born, and studied at the Western Reserve college. In 1841 he opened an academy at Kenosha; was also an editor and postmaster. He lived in Clinton and later at Shoppers, from which place he was elected a state senator, then secretary of state and governor. He went to the relief of Wisconsin troops after the battle of Pittsburg landing, and while returning home he made a mistake as he was boarding a steamer at Savannah on the Tennessee river. The body was recovered and buried in Madison.

Novelist King and Wisconsin Troops. The selection of General Charles King to command Wisconsin troops would meet with the approval of everybody. He will be given the rank of brigadier general. It is on the application of Governor Scott and Adjutant General Boardman, the latter gracefully yielding the prominence which he might rightly take by reason of his being the head (under the governor) of the National Guard. Senators Spooner and Mitchell have also urged the appointment on the president, together with the congressional delegation.

Captain King was a West Point classmate of Governor William H. Upham, and the latter made him adjutant general of the administration. King is every inch a soldier. He is not to

U.S. CRUISER "CINCINNATI" FIRING A SIX-INCH GUN.—FROM A DRAWING BY CARLTON T. CHAPMAN IN HARPER'S WEEKLY.

Reproduced by Permission from Harper's Weekly. Copyright, 1898, by Harper & Brothers.

The bombardment of Manila on April 27th was momentous, because at that time the first shots were fired by the American fleet in Cuban waters against the Spanish flag. For eighteen minutes the flagship New York, the monitor Furman, and the cruiser Cincinnati, at a range of 4,000 yards from earthworks abreast of their stations, were firing almost incessantly. The engagement was opened by the flagship, but the Furman and the Cincinnati impatiently signalled for permission to join her. Their request was at once granted, and the Cincinnati was speedily in action, demolishing the enemy's batteries on the west shore. The accuracy of the gunners on the big cruiser was remarkable, and every discharge of her 6-inch gun wrought destruction to the Spanish works, while the men were full of enthusiasm, and overjoyed at the distinction of firing the first shots of the war.

The subject of the illustration from Harper's Weekly, which we reproduce this week, is the Cincinnati swinging into line opposite the enemy's forts, and discharging her formidable gun. It was the first test in the modern warfare of American naval discipline and gunnery and the test proved conclusively that thirty-five years of peace have not dulled the traditional keenness of Yankee marksmanship.

but he is thick set, and though a rigorous disciplinarian, he is a courteous gentleman and no one would think of unbecoming familiarity with him. His father was General Rufus King. The son was a Milwaukee boy, and when the civil war broke out he left Columbia college and began as drummer in the "Iron Brigade." He was a mounted orderly to his father, who commanded that great brigade, and was guide to General Hancock when his corps crossed the Potomac in 1861. Lincoln appointed him a West Point cadet. After the war King did notable work in the Apache campaign with the Fifth Cavalry, and won lasting wounds at Sunset Pass. He was in the Sioux campaign of 1876. In 1879 he was retired for "wounds received in the line of duty." Captain King was instructor in military tactics in the State university for some years. His novels have added to his fame and fortune.

In "Camp Harvey." There were 3,500 officers and men encamped at Milwaukee when the mobilization was complete, beside musicians, employees of the commissary department, etc. It is the first time the whole guard was ever encamped as a brigade. Each company has a field maximum of 25 and there are 108 commissioned company officers, three for each of the thirty-six companies and thirty regimental officers.

Each regiment has its hospital corps under the surgeon, to which service two men in every hundred are assigned. Brigadier General Boardman promptly established headquarters at Camp Harvey by virtue of "Executive order No. 1," and though General King may command Wisconsin troops first in the field, Boardman's friends hope to hear that McKinley confirms his big title and gives him troops to sustain it later.

MASSING IN MILWAUKEE.

Recruiting for the Regular Army Goes On—Uncle Sam Pays All Militia Bills.

The place of mobilization was fixed at the state fair grounds in Milwaukee, though Governor Scott preferred the summer training grounds at Camp Douglas, principally because there the boys would be removed from the distractions and temptations of the big city. But they have their chaplains along and other spiritual guards. In the ranks of the Tomah company, for instance, is the Methodist pastor of the town. Butters by name, an earnest, hustling young preacher, much esteemed and popular with the boys.

Not all Wisconsin's fighting men go out as national guardsmen. Enlisting for the regular army goes forward at the recruiting station on East Water street, Milwaukee, though the standard is so rigorous that few pass. On one day recently but four were able to meet the examinations. Under the Hall reorganization bill 15,000 infantrymen and 2,100 cavalry men are being added to Uncle Sam's standing army. So severe is the examination that some recruiting stations report not more than one in ten are accepted.

The state government will not incur great expense directly in this Spanish war, whether long or short. The army department early notified Governor Scott that all absolutely necessary expenses for the subsistence, transportation, sheltering and maintenance of volunteers during the interval between their enrollment (enlistment) and their muster (or being sworn in) into the service of the United States will be met by the general government. The bill at Milwaukee is $8,000 a day.

Provisions and accommodations were waiting for the troops when they arrived at Camp Harvey. Although the men had to pass one physical examination at the home, another one was insisted on at Milwaukee, this time made by a United States surgeon. For this final examination, Governor Scott appointed Drs. J. C. Reynolds of Lake Geneva and George D. Todd of Milwaukee to assist the army surgeon.

Each of the forty companies of the National Guard has field equipment for sixty men. The guardsmen were in possession of equipment for the 3,600 men enrolled. This report was made to the secretary of war: "We have following equipment: Twenty-five hundred, each, blanket bags, haversacks, canteens, web belts, meat cans, overcoats; 2,700 each, tin cups, hats, blankets; 2,900 each, leggings, flannel shirts, 3,500 trousers; 4,000 45 S. B. L. rifles; 175,000 rounds of ammunition; 100 38-caliber revolvers; 38 field ovens; 200 wall tents; twenty hospital tents; twelve company mess tents; three headquarters tents."

Feeding the Men.

As may be imagined, the feeding of such a great body of men as are in camp at Milwaukee is a stupendous task. Colonel W. R. Doyon, an official of a Madison bank, and who married a sister of Mrs. Upham during Governor Upham's administration, had charge of this work. He is the purchasing agent, under the direction of General O. B. Zwietusch. "The fair grounds are well adapted to tent life. There are springs that bubble up beneath the feet, and while there are tents for not more than 500 men, the art and other buildings, including horse sheds, furnish fair accommodations. As a matter of fact the men are under roof. There was but one concern able to make the 6,000 pounds of bread needed. The daily consumption of beef is 4,500 pounds; ninety bushels of potatoes, and 450 quarts of milk. Ten tons of straw were needed to fill the bedticks. Telephone and telegraph wires were extended to North Greenfield. There is room for 4,000 men in the permanent buildings of the grounds, and tents were not necessary except that some prefer to live in them. There is a disposition generally on the part of those who stay at home to stand by those who go to the front. For instance, the city of Ashland paid the bills of the men who joined the company and had to quit work that they might drill. The Woodmen have signified their willingness to allow war risks to policyholders. Banks and other employing concerns have notified their employees that their places will be held open for them.

Wisconsin's One Regiment.

When Lincoln called for 75,000 men (April 19, 1861) Wisconsin was called on for but one regiment. Within six days Governor Randall got ten companies together, though the militia had been in bad shape, and they were encamped at Milwaukee. It was a regiment of 610 men. Calls for more came soon and the Badger state's promptness is a matter of history.

President McKinley's call was for 125,000 men, and Wisconsin was called on for three regiments of twelve companies each, a total of thirty-six. The National Guard as constituted consisted of four regiments, two of twelve companies and two of eight companies. To respond therefore required some delicate calculations for all could not go as organized, but finally Governor Scott issued his call to three of the regiments and four of the eight companies of the Fourth regiment. Four companies were thus left out in the cold. The call for the four companies additional to the three regiments is explained by the fact that the regular army regiment is made up of twelve companies. A company now has a maximum of 89 men—that is, it may not be over that number. The old company had a smaller number. This left room for those of the excluded four companies to enlist if they wished, and also made places for new recruits, who were prompt to take the vacancies.

The various companies, when called by the governor, were ordered to increase their number to the maximum, (89), and the Marinette version shows how easy this was. Captain Greene sent the bugle corps out on the street to summon volunteers and in an hour fifty men presented themselves for enrollment. Only thirty-three were needed.

Many incidents will be remembered and related long after the cruel Spanish war has been driven from the western hemisphere. The first Wisconsin patriot to fall was George Wiers of New Richmond. He was returning from Hudson, where he had enlisted, when he was killed under a train.

When Emil Jesse, Pewaukee's football captain, started the whole town saw him off, and they had a band to give him a farewell. He joined the Seventh United States heavy artillery. The Appleton company was taken to Milwaukee by Captain Hugh Pomeroy, including a number of collegians. It was his father who took the first Appleton company out in 1861. At that time he was a professor in Lawrence university.

Madison has two veteran musicians of the war who aroused much enthusiasm when the Madison company departed. The drum, fife and bugle were played by the same men who played them in front of the Madison city hall April 17, 1861, when the first call for volunteers was issued by President Lincoln. John H. Nichols, as then, welded the drumsticks, and C. C. Chittenden blew the fife, and William Gillette brought a clear appeal from the bugle.

READY FOR SECOND CALL. Fresh Companies Forming—Reorganization of the Guard—Police Will Fight. Everybody in the state who knows anything of military matters has been prompt to offer his services to the state government. In fact, Governor Scott has been receiving letters of this sort for some months. At first there was a disposition to smile at the eagerness of the people who wanted to die for their country. But as time went on and diplomacy failed to convince the Spaniards that they ought to get off the continent, these tenders of service became valuable. Letters came in first from old soldiers, eager to get a whack at a Don. Men wanted commissions, and some were eager to raise a regiment. A little girl 13 years of age, daughter of Landford Van Etta of Madison, offered services as nurse and received a telegram of acceptance from the war department, which could not be expected to know that her enthusiasm outran her years. Physicians, musicians, chaplains—one and all classes of men and women—stood ready to serve the state and the nation. Perhaps the offers of ex-Adjutant Generals Doe and Falk were as welcome as any.

Reorganizing National Guard.

Now that the National Guard has been drained by the federal call, reorganization of the home forces is under way. A new militia will be formed and it is important for two reasons: First, to have forces ready for a second call for troops from President McKinley, and second, to have a force in Wisconsin should it be needed to maintain order at home. Retired officers of the Wisconsin National Guard are in charge of these movements. Colonel Albert Bleuel and General Louis Auer of Milwaukee have been active in this work.

Governor Scott's policy has been to merely acknowledge the tender of companies outside the National Guard, declining their services until a later call is made, if any. Waukesha men have given the governor such notice. At the Onida Episcopal mission there are scores of young Indians enrolled to fight if they are needed. But the red man is so constituted that he has not the energy and enthusiasm to drill unless he sees a fight ahead. The uncertainty of a call for troops discourages the Indians. Ashland has a company ready to follow the guardsmen. Menasha has a volunteer company, drilling in an empty store. The recruiting of "Rough Riders" in Milwaukee is one of the most interesting movements. Some of the men formerly served in infantry or cavalry. Dr. Frank Powell ("White Beaver," ex-mayor of La Crosse) is at the head of the regiment, which has branches over the state, and if ever called out, it will make a remarkably dashing appearance in Sheboygan Captain Trester has an infantry company, which would follow the local guardsmen to war, and there is a third lot of infantrymen in the shape of Sons of Veterans and the Congressional church boys' brigade. Reedsburg is on fire with enthusiasm and has a volunteer enrollment, born of an opera house meeting. Elroy has a company ready, and the enthusiasm even in remote communities is shown by the enrollment of 100 cavalrymen at Valley Junction, a small place not far from Elroy, but of whose very existence nearly all of Wisconsin is ignorant. Platteville has a company ready; so have Port Washington and Berlin. Stoughton has been drilling a company for two years in the hope of getting in the militia. The motive back of this enthusiasm is a readiness to serve their country when the second call for troops comes.

In Sheboygan are 125 ex-members of the National Guard reserve that is being drilled. Another interesting lot of soldiers in this patriotic city are the German Veterans' society, 120 of them, who fought in the German-Danish war of 1849; the Prussian revolt and in other famous clashes.

Under Surgeon General Byers is a long roll of surgeons, none with titles and salaries less than captains. Apart from the forty infantry companies that make up the National guard there is "Troop A" of Milwaukee, a splendid force of mounted men, but for some reason the Washington authorities did not include them in the first call, though it has been organized since 1880. Battery "A," first light artillery, is another branch of the service, a Milwaukee organization dating from 1855, but not yet in that needed.

They have held meetings at which red-hot speeches were made, and Congressmen O'Brien and General Alger of the cabinet have written them letters of encouragement. One of their preachers, Rev. John Szulcinski of the Church of St. Cyril Methody, is ready to go with them. Captain Bochardt, who is the leader in the work of organization, was for five years on Governor Jerry Rusk's staff. He organized a company in the National Guard and fought for two years in the civil war.

Students Taking Great Interest. The boys of the State university are at concert pitch. They held a mass-meeting in the big armory. President Adams urged moderation on them. He advised them to begin drilling in order to be ready for a second call (which they have done), but he advised against breaking up their studies, the school year being ended in two months, unless it was imperatively necessary. Meanwhile the regents presented two new flags. The students are drilling every day, and when the Madison company started for Milwaukee the whole university saw them off, though it was at an early hour in the morning. It was amusing to see them crowd the tops of the cars. Recitations were abandoned by common consent. The Milwaukee boys are dominant in the command. The colonel is Allard Smith of Eau Claire, but the lieutenant colonel, Helme, regimental adjutant, Cole; Major Vilas (nephew of the ex-senator), and Major Schroeder are all Milwaukee boys. Lieutenant Brooks, the drill master, has gone to Washington long ago, to be in early in the fight; and as he comes of navy stock and his wife is the daughter of Colonel Wilson, son

The faculty are drilling, no less than the students, and the smallest and the end of the drill line is Dr. Ely, the world famous economist.

At (Methodist) Lawrence college in Appleton there is the same enthusiasm. Some of the students have gone off with the militia. The faculty have said in chapel that every man should serve his country when needed, and there is a company ready when a second call is issued.

OUR NATIONAL GUARD.

Officers of the Regiments That Will Cop with the Bloody Spanish.

The defense of the state is a great, elaborate machine, and the sum total of these elaborate defenses of the forty-five states constitutes the National Guard. At the head of the Wisconsin service is the commander-in-chief, General Scott, the Ontario lumberman. Next to him is the adjutant general of the state, the working head, and from whose office is the capitol the militia of the state is controlled. General Boardman is an Oshkosh man. He graduated from the State university some fourteen years ago; owns a printing plant, and is a quiet, efficient, manly fellow, who has worked his way up in the National Guard and was a close friend of Governor Scott. His assistant is Colonel Worth H. Patton, also an Oshkosh man. Lieutenant Frank M. Caldwell is the officer of the regular army, who inspects the Wisconsin militia. General Oscar B. Zwietusch of Milwaukee, a manufacturer, is the commissary general, and his assistant is Colonel Allan F. Caldwell of Whitewater. Major Charles R. Williams of Milwaukee is another assistant. Then comes the surgeon general, Dr. Frederick W. Byers of Monroe; the military secretary, who is Colonel William J. Anderson (Governor Scott's private secretary); Colonel George Graham, a lawyer of Tomah is general inspector of small arms practice; Colonel Kruecker, the Madison lawyer, is acting judge advocate general, and sits in military trials; M. R. Doyon is acting paymaster general, active as purchasing agent, and Harry S. Fuller of Milwaukee is acting engineer-in-chief. Then follows a list of nineteen aides-de-camp—some of whom have earned the coveted title "Colonel," and others who have not. These positions are largely honorary; the gentlemen constituting the staff who accompany the governor on horseback on stated occasions.
